

The Alan Turing Institute

15 August 2024

Dear Maya and Anjali,

Re: Equity in Grant Funding (TR24-22)

This letter confirms that the project noted above that you submitted for ethics review received ethics approval from the Turing Research Ethics Panel on the basis of the documents submitted. The ethics approval number is 24051605.

The documents reviewed by the Turing Research Ethics Panel were:

- TReX Form 2
- Survey Information Sheet and Consent Form
- Survey Question List

Yours sincerely,

Dr Kirstie Whitaker
TReX Panel Chair

DocuSigned by:

85BA3879AF70474...
2024-08-16 | 11:41 AM BST

DISCLAIMER: The Turing accepts no liability whatsoever for any reliance a third party (other than the Turing) places on the contents of this document and excludes all liability to the fullest extent possible under applicable law. This letter does not constitute legal advice, data protection advice, or any other compliance advice.

Turing's research ethics process makes no assessment or addresses any issues regarding the source of applicable funding, the appropriateness of any funders, nor any issues relating to conflicts of interests. Similarly, Turing's research ethics process makes no assessment regarding export controls, National Security & Investments Act processes, matters regarding technical assistance, or any other related areas.

Turing's research ethics process makes an ethical assessment of activities that fall within the definition of 'Eligible Research' under the Turing's Research Ethics Policy and to the activities and applications specifically described in the relevant ethics submission and expressly excludes any ethical assessments/considerations/reviews of any other applications of the research outputs whatsoever.